

DOOLITTLE AEROSPACE EDUCATION CENTER Vacaville, CA

JRDV Urban International Studios is the lead design firm for the master plan and design for this shared use campus between the Jimmy Doolittle Education Center and the Solano College Aeronautic Development Building.

The plan is developed around an innovative next-generation approach to shared facilities between these two education institutions. The plan will create a nationally recognized education center for innovation, entrepreneurship, and leadership. The innovative shared plan will allow both institutions to share classroom, restoration hangar, theater and other facility resources.
